

I am so angry that I could tear anything apart right now! WHY IS IT ALWAYS THE SAME??? He keeps everything. Literally everything! Even stuff he didn't use in YEARS! In situations like this I really ask myself, why I'm even married with him... Maybe the best would be to divorce but we don't have enough money for that and I love him. ...sometimes.

Aside of that Art is sitting with him for hours to hear his story and his reaction to that is to throw Art's coat into the garbage? I don't understand this. Where is the Vladek I love? Where is that sensitive, calm and perfect man I married? This is the husband I want. Not the idiot that's with me here!